

The University of Uppsala

The newest Rotary Peace Center

The Rotary Foundation Board of Directors have decided to appoint the Uppsala University to be the new Rotary Peace Center

Many universities applied to be the next Peace Center. In this tough competition, the University of Uppsala was chosen, considered to be "outstanding".

Rotary Peace Fellowship is the most renowned of the Rotary Foundation's awards. This award is granted to around 60 students from all over the world to study peace and conflict solutions at some of the outstanding universities around the world. This award is for two years and results in a Master Degree in the subject. The award covers all costs for this two years. The study is financed by generous contributions by Rotarians from all corners of the world.

To-day there are more than 900 students/alumni's that have graduated. Of these more than 95% works to-day within the area peace and conflict solutions all over the world.
